BRIEF BROCHURE

Taj Mahal Quartzite Introduction

Taj Mahal Quartzite is one of the most popular high-end natural quartzite stones. With a pure warm white background interspersed with delicate golden and cream veining, the stone shows natural flowing layers just like peaceful lake ripples in early spring, elegant and timeless.

Compared with ordinary marble, Taj Mahal features higher hardness, excellent compression resistance, strong scratch resistance and stable physical properties. It performs perfectly in polishing, cutting and surface finishing, suitable for various customized processing.

The tone is soft, clean and extremely versatile, matching modern minimalist, luxury style, European and American high-end interior design. It is the ideal choice for high-grade background walls, kitchen countertops, bathroom vanities, villa flooring, lobby walls and commercial space engineering
